FESTIVALS, RITES TO MARK YULE EVE

Holiday Spirit Is Busting Out All Over

The crash scattered a truckload of Christmas books in the snow. As the cold winds whirled them across the fields an insurance adjuster gave the Aberdeen Fire Department permission to salvage the books for needy children.

After drying them out, the firemen put together a big bundle for a state school delivery, another for the Salvation Army, and used the rest for their usual round of deliveries to needy youngsters on Christmas Eve.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A successful furrier carried on his own Christmas tradition here Friday by distributing $10 bills to 110 newsboys.

Joe H. Dupler, owner of stores here and in Denver, recalled that he sold newspapers on the streets of Denver in 1906. He started his method of observing Christmas when he came to Salt Lake City 20 years ago.

The newsboys also received Louis firm. It was to start a Christmas party.

ONTARIO, Ore. (AP)—Jerry Davis, an 11-year-old hero in this eastern Oregon town, received a special gift for Christmas, but can't use it yet.

Friday, fire chief R. J. Prahl received a $100 check from a St. "Please say hello to Rudolph, lege education fund for Jerry."

The lad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Davis, made two trips into the family's burning home here recently to save his two younger brothers, ages two and four. The home was destroyed. Jerry was hospitalized with his burns, but he'll be home for Christmas.

BOSTON (AP)—Members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra aren't exchanging Christmas gifts this year.

Instead, they decided Friday to pool the money to buy tools for needy farmers in the Philippines. The musicians will send agricultural tools through CARE to farmers who lost their equipment in floods in central Luzon. Kits will go to 25 villages in the region.

The orchestra played in Manila during its Asiatic tour last summer.

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—Nita White, 5, wanted to mail a letter to Santa Claus, but she didn't have a postage stamp.

Undaunted, she pasted a trading stamp on her letter. Postal clerks dutifully canceled the stamp and forwarded Nita's letter to St. Nick.

ALHAMBRA, Calif. (AP)—The pre-holiday political campaigning left its mark on one Alhambra tyke.

Wrote Charlene Gans: "Dear Santa Claus: 'Please say hello to Rudolph, Nixon, Vixon and Planner.' The letter was processed north via the Alhambra Post Advocate."

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Heler Devasure, 24, who has spent 1,000 days in Lutheran Hospital during the last eight years, goes home for Christmas today with the knowledge.

A Little More White Stuff Is Assured for Christmas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Keep your galoshes handy; you may need them today and tomorrow. The Weather Bureau expects the sky to spit snow intermittently to assure a definitely white Christmas.

For a while, the weatherman feared that Central Ohio would get a new snowfall of up to eight inches, but this morning he was convinced that the accumulation might be about an inch.

But before you get out that snow shovel, here's a word of advice from Dr. Donald K. Mathews, coordinator of research and associate professor in Ohio State University's department of physical education:

Each shovelful of snow weighs between 3 1/4 and 17 pounds, depending on whether the snow is wet or dry. An ordinary snow shovel weighs about five pounds. So if a person lifts 10 shovelfuls a minute, this equals the amount of energy used in climbing to either the third or seventh floor of a building in one minute.

If you think your heart can take that kind of taxing, or if you're used to heavy exercise, snowshoveling may not bother you.

But keep in mind that more than a score of Ohioans dropped dead of heart attacks while shoveling snow in the big storm earlier this week. The latest victim was Roman Puhalski, 64, who collapsed and died while shoveling at his Lorain home Friday.

Freezing weather accompanied the new snow. The high temperature today was forecast to be 20 in Central Ohio, 20-25 in South Central Ohio and 15-20 in Northern Ohio.

Here are forecasts for specific areas withing and near Ohio:

NORTHWEST & NORTHEAST OHIO—Cloudy today, with intermittent light snow and slowly rising temperatures. High 18-23. Mostly cloudy and not so cold tonight. Low 10-15. Considerable sunshine Sunday and little temperature change.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Cloudy and warmer today with occasional snow changing to flurries this afternoon, except brief periods of freezing rain and snow changing to light rain southwest. Accumulation generally less than one inch. High today 28-36, 22-28 central. Tonight and Sunday mostly cloudy and a little warmer central, partly cloudy with little temperature change south.

CENTRAL OHIO—Cloudy and warmer with occasional light snow accumulating one inch or less today, high 28. Mostly cloudy and warmer tonight an Christmas Day, low tonight, 16, high Sunday 32.

SOUTH CENTRAL OHIO—Mostly cloudy with light snow today, occasionally mixed with sleet or rain, warmer, high 25-30. Partly cloudy and warmer onigh and Sunday, low tonight 16-20 high Sunday 30-35.

Lake Erie Mostly southeasterly winds 8-15 knots today and tonight. A little snow.

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA—Cloudy and not quite so cold today and tonight with intermittent light snow. High today 18-23. Low tonight 10-15. Considerable cloudiness and little temperature change Christmas with a few snow flurries south.

WEST VIRGINIA PANHANDLE—Cloudy with occasional snow and slowly rising temperatures. Little accumulation. Continued cloudy and not so cold tonight and Christmas. High today 18-24, low tonight 15-20. Snow flurries likely on Sunday.

WEST VIRGINIA—Mostly cloudy today and tonight, occasional light snow today and over mountains tonight. High today 25-35 west and 20-30 east. Partly cloudy and slightly warmer Sunday with chance of scattered snow flurries in mountain areas.

KENTUCKY—Occasional rain mixed with snow west, ending early this afternoon. Occasional snow east, becoming briefly mixed with sleet and changing to light rain this afternoon, ending by early tonight. No important accumulation, except 1-3 inches in the mountains. Warmer. High today in the 30s, tonight fair west, mostly cloudy extreme east, little temperature change. Low tonight 26-34, Sunday mostly cloudy with chance of occasional rain by about dark. Little temperature change.

From Rome came greetings that said, "Buon Natale e felice Anno Nuovo"—"A good Christmas and a happy New Year." Other messages of cheer have come from Japan, Germany, Korea, Greenland and every state in the union.

Dorothy has been left tiny and frail since the disease first struck her in 1953. The illness, Schuller-Christian syndrome, is usually fatal, but Dorothy has had no progression of the disease in the past two years.

Christmas has been the happiest time for Dorothy because of her love for cards. Newscasters and hillbilly singers have been making area appeals for years for the child, but she has never seen anything like this.

White Christmas Assured Here

A "White Christmas" is here at last, with approximately 5 inches of snow on the ground.

Nearly an inch of new snow fell the last 24 hours blanketing the countryside and city with the serenity of the Christmas season.

Local weather authorities forecast more snow today, tonight and tomorrow with less than an inch accumulating. Cloudy and warmer tomorrow with more snow, says the weather man.

Churches Plan Special Rites For Celebration of Christmas

Special music, pageants and programs will be featured in city church services tomorrow in observance of Christmas Day.

Hundreds of local people, who during the fury of Christmas shopping, dinners and parties, sometimes forget the reason we celebrate Christmas, will be on hand to honor the birth of our Lord. Services are as follows:

Presbyterian
Christmas Day at the Presbyterian Church begins with the study of the Christmas story in the Sunday school at 9:30 a.m. Christmas morning. The complete story will be shown on color-sound film.

At 10:30 a. m. the worship service begins. This is a Christmas Carol service, with adult and junior choirs, harp and organ music, and congregational participation in the singing. Mrs. Barton Donna Snyder will sing: "No Candle Was There and No Fire" by Lehmann. The Christmas meditation, "What Child Is This?" will be presented by the pastor, the Rev. Donald Mitchell.

Trinity Lutheran
Trinity Lutheran
Christmas will be celebrated at Trinity Lutheran Church this Sunday at one service at 8:30 a. m. Special music will begin at 8 a. m. It will consist of various Christmas solos by Miss Lois Wittich accompanied by Mrs. Karl Herrmann at the organ. The choir will present several anthems: "Christmas Hymn"—Combined Choirs, "Come Hither, Ye Children", Children's Choir, "Russian Christmas Carol", Youth Choir and "Glory to God in the Highest", Whitford-Senior Choir.

The choir are under the direction of Miss Janet Westrick. Pastor Zehner will present the sermon "Christmas, God's Greatest Gift."

Santa Asures Arkansas Girl He'll Sure Be There Tonight

SANTA'S HEADQUARTERS, North Pole (AP)—Dear Coleta Burns:

Shiver my whiskers! My face is red as my suit. Please forgive me for not getting to your house at Christmas for such a long time. No wonder you thought I was dead.

But rest assured, I am not. All live in hope you will read this tial help here is just not what it used to be, and the names of many poor and deserving children sometimes get left off the list.

But don't worry. By a reindeer's hoof, I promise I'm going to get to your house this time. I have before me a copy of the letter you wrote from your farm home at Viola, Ark., to the police department in New York City saying:

"Is there a real Santa? You see if there is a real Santa he doesn't know where we live. You know he hasn't been to our house for a long time. He must have been dead for a lot of years. If he is live in hope you will read this letter to him."

As Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm wrote back to you, I'm still real, honey, and I want to visit all kids everywhere regularly. And there's plenty of gifts on this earth to go around.

I know things have been difficult there for you and the rest of the Carneil Burns family, scraping a living out of your little farm, particularly since your father hasn't been able to get extra work lately as a carpenter.

Certainly it wasn't intentional that I've been overlooking you, a little girl of 11, and your two older brothers, your twin sister, 13, and your younger brother and sister. It's just that such faults do exist in my system.

I'm going to try to make up for the oversight this year, although I may not make it by Christmas, for as Commissioner Arm says, I have "a lot of territory to cover." So please be patient.

Through help of New York's police Athletic League, I have mailed you a package of 18 gifts, including games, books and a toy piano for your twin sisters. This is as close as we could come to the real piano you requested so they could learn to play in church.

As for the cowboy boots, blue jeans and cowboy hat you asked for yourself, I've arranged to send this through Mr. George Otowski of Perth Amboy, N. J., who volunteered to rush the items to you.

Also, concerning your request for some encyclopedias for your older brothers, I've arranged for the Little Rock, Ark., agent of the Compton's picture encyclopedia to deliver a 15-volume set, as a company gift.

Of course, I plan to slip by your house with my loaded sleigh and reindeer team sometime in the season to see that all is taken care of. You'll probably hear the bells tinkle at midnight. I have such a big job, however, I do need others to help get it done.

Santa Claus.

Burned-Out Family Sees Friends Rally

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The Stanley Dunnohow family has found it has a lot of friends after losing everything—including a son—in a fire.

In nearby Mason, the Rev. Bernard Felix of St. Susanna Church headed a drive to aid the Dunnohows and their four surviving children.

The fire Thursday at their Pishan home took the life of Gregory Dunnohow, 6.

Father Felix said Friday night Mason merchants had already outfitted the children with new clothing, two builders offered temporary use of new homes and parishioners had completed a door-to-door canvas for food, clothing and money.

Kennedy Mum About Slump

New Administration Plans Not Revealed

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy is taking a cautious approach in deciding what the new administration will do about the business slump and unemployment.

He says there will be no decision regarding such controversial steps as tax cuts and pump-priming public works spending until after he has taken office Jan. 20.

Kennedy's go-slow policy on the problem was clear today as he slackened his work pace for the Christmas weekend and made ready to enjoy the holiday with his family at their ocean-front home.

The president-elect probably will get in another round of golf in the afternoon and then turn tonight to a traditional and happy assignment of many an American father. He plans to help trim the Christmas tree, assisted by daughter Caroline, 3, and hang stockings in the mantle.

The newest member of the family is far too young to lend a hand. But the latest bulletin on John Fitzgerald Jr., who will be one month old Christmas Day, is that he's doing fine. He's now weighing in at 7 pounds, 5 ounces—1 pound and 2 ounces more than his birth weight.

And he is being showered with Christmas presents—toys, dolls, clothes—from all sections of the country.

Kennedy's caution on the business slump and unemployment of more than four million was pointed up as he announced Friday the appointment of Walter W. Heller, University of Minnesota economist and tax expert, as chairman of his Council of Economic Advisers.

First of all, Heller gave his version of the problem at a joint news conference with Kennedy. Heller said there has been a business recession the last six months and that the economy has been lagging for 3 1/2 years.

He added that he wants to explore the idea of a tax program geared to reductions in times of business decline and increases as an anti-inflationary weapon.

But Kennedy kept his own counsel as to what his thinking is on remedial measures.

Christmastime Is Season Of Contrasts

Sweltering Africans, Shivering Americans Join in Celebration

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Festive parties and religious observance marked Christmas Eve from the newest nations of Africa to Europe, America and Asia.

African carol singers in flowered costumes paraded the streets of Lagos, Nigeria, in 91-degree temperatures, celebrating their first Christmas Eve as an independent nation. Churches were expected to be crowded for the traditional services in all except the Moslem north. Stores sold gifts and Christmas puddings.

Near-zero temperatures, laced with blizzards, gripped the northeastern United States from the upper Mississippi Valley to the seaboard.

President Eisenhower, lighting the nation's Christmas tree in Washington Friday night, expressed gratefulness "for all the material comforts with which we have been blessed." But he urged the nation to look seriously at its imperfections—racial prejudices and apathy toward violations of law and standards of public and private integrity.

Pilgrims from far corners of the world in unprecedented numbers made the devout trek to the manger scene in Bethlehem. About 3,000 of them passed through Jerusalem's Mandelbaum Gate and the no man's land between Israel and Jordan.

As usual the Christmas season was one of many contrasts.

Most European countries closed out one of the most prosperous Christmas sprees in history. Britain reported Christmas spending up 25 per cent over last year. Shopkeepers in Italy said they were running out of sable, mink and chinchilla. Paris night club reservations were sold out. Record British poultry sales for the Christmas dinner totaled $50 million.

But in the Congo, the head of the U. N. mission, Rajeshwar Dayal of India, planned to spend Christmas Day at Bakwanga in Kasai Province where some 200 refugee Baluba tribesmen are reported dying of starvation every day.

Plum pudding rations were distributed to Irish soldiers in the Congo, turkey to Canadians. Military units from Christian nations planned Christmas trees and parties, whether they were stationed in Leopoldville or jungle outposts. Danish military police in Leopoldville had a tree felled from Denmark.

Soldiers manning another uneasy front line—American troops in Korea—gripped and entertained orphans. The Army is serving up 32 tons of turkey, plus trimmings. Many units will be visited by a Santa in a jeep with an olive drab duflie bag.

Three American prisoners were likely to have an austere Christmas in Soviet prisons. They are Francis Gary Powers of Pound, Va., pilot of the U2 reconnaissance plane downed last May 1, and Capt. Freeman B. Olmstead of Elmira, N. Y., and Capt. John R. McCone of Topeka, Kan., among those aboard an RB47 reconnaissance bomber shot down over the Barents Sea July 1. Packages have been sent by their families, but only Soviet officials know if the three prisoners will have an observance at all.

Berlin, possible city of crisis in the new year, had many people far from home observing Christmas Eve. Besides the 10,000 or so American, British and French troops, plus dependents, there are about 40,000 Germans driven from their homes in eastern provinces in 1945.

Soupy Sales Takes His TV Gimmicks to Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Detroit's loss is Hollywood's gain: Soupy Sales.

Who or what is Soupy Sales? You won't ask if you have TV-addicted children or are an adult fond of slapstick comedy. He is the latter-day devotee of Mack Sennett who puts on a TV show—he calls it "a children's show for adults"—on ABC Saturdays.

The program is a wild one-man production in which he does stunts and skits inolving 35 different characters. Soupy—real name: Milton Hines—was a longtime nickname of his; the Sales was added because it sounded euphonious.

For seven years he has also been doing 10 shows weekly on a local Detroit channel—five daytime for the kiddies, five at night for their parents. He has left all that behind to sink or swim in the big pond of Hollywood.

Why did he leave Detroit?

"Because I didn't want to stay there until I reached the age of 50 still wondering if I could make it in the big time," he said. "After all, Hollywood is the big time, the center of the entertainment industry. No matter how well your show is received, it doesn't get the same importance it comes out of a place like Detroit. Or Chicago. It's got to be Hollywood or New York.

"I admit I'm taking a chance. For the past five years I've been making $150,000 a year in Detroit. I'm taking a big loss to give up those local shows. I may fall on my face here, but I've got to give it a try."

Soupy acknowledged that 11 shows a week was getting a bit too much—"I was on the go so much, the Auto Club called me to find out conditions on the expressway." He'll continue his Saturday show from here and hopes to line up others, local and-or network.

"I think the time is ripe for bigger kick out of comedy when they know it is happening right then. It doesn't matter if mistakes are made, that just adds to the comedy."

Costs Offset Value of Hay Pelleting

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The desirability of a paved feedlot has been well established. Some advantages are: 1. Higher animal gains; 2. Greater feeding efficiency; 3. Saving of manure and its nutrients; 4. Less loss from diseases; 5. Less labor associated with livestock handling.

A recommended paving design using concrete has been well established and its durability known; however, there is interest in other paving designs to determine their capability and cost. Paving designs using asphalt were less wellknown. Also modifications in the recommended paving design needed to be evaluated and demonstrated as to their effect on durability and cost.

In the fall of 1957, Games Slayter's Old Locust Farm, near Newark, was made available so an experimental feedlot could be established. Several materials were checked for their durability and cost as feedlot paving surfaces and substrates.

The paved feedlot, exposed to the weather, consisted of 25,890 square feet enclosed on the east and west by wooden feed bunks and on the north and south by barns. A hay feeder was located in the center of the feedlot.

The feedlot was used for feeding beef cattle in a year-round operation. The beef cattle population averaged 269 head per month over a 24-month period. A tractor-mounted manure loader and scoop were used to clean the lot.

THE FOLLOWING are the currently practical paving designs:

1. Four inches of concrete over two inches of gravel. 2. Four inches of concrete over clay. 3. Three inches of asphaltic concrete over clay.

4. Two inches of asphaltic concrete over four inches of gravel. 5. Four inches of gravel, surface sealed with asphalt and fine gravel.

6. Four inches of 1½ - 2 inch limestone, voids filled with limestone screenings. 8. Four inches of 1½ - 2 inch limestone, voids filled with limestone, surface sealed with asphalt and fine gravel.

The treatment descriptions are not detailed specifications of the paving design. Specifications of any treatment are available.

Additional treatments were included which involved the use of one inch, asphalt surfaced, glass fiber batts as the base material; glass fiber in the asphaltic concrete layer; and hydrated lime as a surface binder. The glass fiber batts were to provide a drainage layer below the surface treatment and a vapor barrier to prevent moisture migration to the lower surface of the paving from deeper soil depths.

The glass fiber placed in the asphaltic concrete layer was to provide additional strength to the paved layer. Lime was used as a simple, low cost method of stabilizing a soil-manure mixture. Work has not progressed on these treatments to a place that practical recommendation can be made.

All stone, gravel, and asphaltic applications were compacted with a five-ton roller. The concrete was six bag concrete containing limestone aggregate. Also, before the paving was started all undesirable topsoil and manure were removed and a clay fill hauled in, leveled to grade, and compacted. Here are the results to date:

Treatments No. 5 and No. 6 failed completely during the first winter. The gravel, which was essentially round, lacked the ability to key together either with or without the asphaltic sealer. As a result the animals tramped the gravel into the clay.

SINCE treatments No. 5 and No. 6 failed, treatments No. 7 and No. 8 were placed in the same location during the summer of 1958. These new treatments failed along the feed bunk during the first winter although the main portion of the treatment remained intact. During the summer of 1959 a concrete strip six feet wide was poured along the feed bunk in order

Experiments Indicate Paved Feedlot Best with Concrete

SINCE treatments No. 5 and No. 6 failed, treatments No. 7 and No. 8 were placed in the same location during the summer of 1958. These new treatments failed along the feed bunk during the first winter although the main portion of the treatment remained intact. During the summer of 1959 a concrete strip six feet wide was poured along the feed bunk in order to take the concentrated animal loading that caused these treatments to fail along the bunk. The portion of the treatment not replaced by the concrete strip showed slight progressive failure.

All of the asphaltic concrete treatments failed along the feed bunk during the second year of service. In addition treatment No. 2 (asphaltic concrete over clay) started to fail during the second year of service, although certain sections are still serviceable in areas of excellent drainage and light animal traffic.

Present indications are that treatment No. 4 (asphaltic concrete over gravel) is failing on the west side of the hay bunker where drainage is particularly poor. The remaining section of this treatment is intact.

None of the concrete treatments show evidence of failure to date. At the time of the initiation of this work, the design of an asphaltic concrete paving for surfacing outdoor feed lots was not well known. Additional field tests indicate asphaltic concrete paving must have a minimum thickness of three inches over five inches of base material. Areas near feed bunks will require a thickness of concrete or a very stable base course to withstand this most severe loading condition.

One fundamental difference between asphaltic and concrete must be understood. Concrete is rigid and will distribute the concentrated load loading. Asphaltic concrete is basically flexible and the desired load distribution must be made through a stable base course or additional thickness of the asphaltic concrete layer.

Cost of concrete can be reduced through the use of farm labor. Farmer applications of asphaltic concrete are not possible because of the need for special spreading and rolling equipment. The asphaltic concrete must be laid and compacted with a five to ten-ton roller 1 - 1½ inch layers.

Based on the experiences of this test so far, gravel as used in treatments No. 5 and No. 6 could not have and expected life of more than one year; limestone as used in treatments No. 7 and No. 8 would last, perhaps two or three years; asphaltic concrete over clay as in treatment No. 3, one to three years. No failure of either concrete treatment is apparent at the present time.

Although concrete over clay as in treatment No. 2 has shown no evidence of failure, it is not a recommended treatment except where lots overlay as well-drained soil. In general, treatment No. 1 and a treatment of four inches of asphaltic concrete over five inches of base material are considered "permanent"; however, the concrete treatment is expected to outlive the asphaltic treatment.

Wednesday's receipts were on the light side due to the bad weather. No choice to prime cattle were sold. Snow Blanket May Be of Great Value

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If the snow blanket now covering Ohio melts gradually, it will help ground water levels more than if the same amount of moisture had fallen as rain in August, the Ohio Division of Water reported today.

Paul Kaser, hydrologist for the division, said that because of the extreme dryness of the soil then, that quantity of water would not have passed the "root zone" which has first claim on precipitation.

Kaser said if thawing takes place four or five days the state will benefit most from the present snowfall. Streams, and thus reservoirs, will rise, as will underground water levels. He explained that the water content was .125 inch per inch of snow. For the entire state, the total water content was about 1 inch, while for the Columbus area, which had an 8.7-inch snowfall in midweek, it was 1.09 inches.

A sudden blast of warm air from the Gulf of Mexico could present a problem, he said, but he also emphasized that no such warm front is predicted.

Ohio probably would be protected from any major flood by the fact that the state is 5.8 inches deficient in its average yearly rainfall, said Kaser, adding as a result, reservoirs are low and so are streams, and these would absorb a great deal of water.

Third Atomic Sub Fires Polaris OK

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The crew of the atomic submarine Robert E. Lee headed for Christmas leave in Newport News, Va., today after successfully firing a Polaris missile from beneath the Atlantic Ocean.

The Polaris was launched from the submarine Thursday as it cruised submerged about 30 miles off the cape. The Navy reported the rocket had met all test objectives in streaking to a target 1,300 miles down range.

This initial launching from the Robert E. Lee gives the United States three submarines capable of firing the Polaris. The George Washington is already on station in the North Atlantic with 16 nuclear-tipped missiles. The Patrick Henry will follow next week.

Hollywood's 'Walk of Fame' Slated for Lush Renovation

By BOB THOMAS
By Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This being the Christmas season, it is time to take a Scrooge-like view of a local civic project—the Hollywood Walk of Fame.

The town's property owners have wisely started a campaign to spruce up Hollywood Boulevard, which has long had the appearance of Coney Island but little of its fun. Part of the plan consisted of ripping up sidewalks and installing $1.25 million worth of terrazzo walkways with the names of 1,500 famous stars imbedded in them.

The Walk of Fame is chiefly noted for its exclusion of Charlie Chaplin. Though he was Hollywood's greatest star, the businessmen who compiled the list of stars disapproved of his politics. Hence he was included out.

We won't argue the Chaplin bit today. Let's look and wonder at some of the other selections.

The merchants named their choices in four categories: motion pictures, recording, radio and television. Note that only entertainers in the mechanical mediums can qualify—none of those old-fashioned people who entertain in the flesh.

Thus a star could be imbedded four times in the Terrazzo and two are: Gene Autry and Tony Martin. The former is a logical choice; Martin may have appeared in all four mediums—most entertainers have—but he now makes his principal living in night clubs.

Oscar winner Barry Fitzgerald is down for TV, in which I cannot recall his appearing. Same for Roland Young who died before TV came in. Walter Brennan—the "real McCoy"—gets only a motion picture star, and Ward Bond only one for TV.

Tab Hunter, movie and TV star whose singing talent has been widely debated, gets his star for recording only. Red Skelton, Don Ameche, Eve Arden and William Bendix get theirs for radio and TV but not for movies. Fred Astaire, with a bundle of Emmies to his credit, is listed for films alone.

Oscar winner Barry Fitzgerald is down for TV, in which I cannot recall his appearing. Same for Roland Young who died before TV came in. Walter Brennan—the "real McCoy"—gets only a motion picture star, and Ward Bond only one for TV.

Highway Bridge Repair To Take until 1967

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state highway department's $85.7 million program for repairing or replacing 1,083 sub-standard bridges will take until 1967, Deputy Director Guy E. Nepper says. The bridges, about 10 per cent state system, are too weak or too narrow. Nepper said 279 have been fixed or are being worked on, 583 are scheduled for attention by 1965, and 221 others will have to wait until after 1965.

Filipino's Dream Fades, Brightens

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A Philippine physician, her plans for a Christmas trip home to Manila destroyed by the loss of $700, may get to make the trip after all. Dr. Rosa Lopez, an intern at Lima Memorial Hospital, drew her savings from the bank yesterday and headed for a travel bureau to purchase passage home. On the way she lost the money. Miss Lopez says she thinks a pickpocket stole it.

Physicians, nurses and fellow employees at the hospital have chipped in $350 and Lima residents are adding to a fund to help Miss Lopez get home for Christmas, hospital officials said.

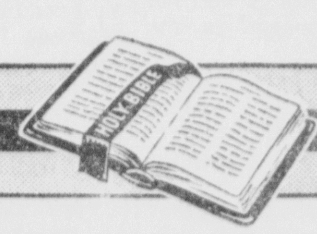

The Greatest Gift

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Despite Ill, There's a Purpose

"When they saw the star they rejoiced with exceeding great joy." — Matthew ii, 10.

"They were the wise men from the East who journeyed to Bethlehem to pay homage to the Babe born in the manger. They understood the significance of the first Christmas.

Other wise men from all points of the compass have shared in the rejoicing through the years, as the meaning of the Star of Bethlehem has grown in their consciousness.

Perhaps there is little one can add today to what has been written on the significance of the first Christmas. Yet there is a phase of that meaning which deserves special consideration at this period in history. It is the emphasis which the Incarnation gave to the dignity and the worth of man as evaluated by the Creator in whose image he was made.

The sacredness of human personality was central in the teaching of the Founder of Christianity, whose birth the Star proclaimed. It has been central to the teaching of His Church, and as such has become accepted by enlightened people. It is a foundation principle of democracy as we know it, and it is a basic issue on which the world divides in the current ideological conflict.

There will continue to be hope springing eternal, and men will realize it. They will realize how far the hope that had its origin in a stable at Bethlehem has brought the human race and that this hope, more than any other single factor in the life of man, has saved mankind from the debasement of utter savagery.

Men must be content with the knowledge that slowly, almost imperceptibly, progress is being made, and that eventually — although perhaps not in the time of anyone now living — the world will witness the triumph of an ideal.

Yes, there are wars and rumors of wars, but the King of Kings, born in a manger, foresaw each departure from the divine plan throughout the ages and dismissed the subject. "The end is not yet", He said calmly.

No, the end is not yet. Man's plots and plans are brief and futile. The captains and the kings depart and little that they do leaves an impress upon the sands of time.

All that endures is the Divine Purpose, which is as firm today and as unchanged as it was more than 1900 years ago, when the first Christian, grown to manhood, walked the earth.

Revolution Is World Wide

Revolution is world-wide and explodes like bubbles in a pot of thick soup. Some revolutions occur over had government; others are fomented by Soviet Russia and Red China in their empire-building effort to develop a universal Marxist state which is essential to their creed.

The United States, having adopted the role and responsibility of world leader, cannot rush to each revolution to put down the Communist forces. At this moment, revolutionary movements bespeak themselves in Laos, Ethiopia, Nepal, Congo, Cuba, Venezuela, Brazil, Algeria, Rhodesia, to mention a few that are seething or simmering. Shall the United States, like a universal fire department, run to each one or should we leave it to the United Nations which has depend on its members and in Laos that the Russians supply arms to each revolutionary group?

In a very few weeks, the Kennedy Administration will have to face the facts of this situation and will need a policy. Will it pursue the Dulles policy of seeking peace by agreement and the Eisenhower policy of good-will to all with a smile? Will John Kennedy, when he is actually in power, disappoint his liberal counselors by adopting a nationalistic policy or will he disappoint his conservative critics by insisting that American rights be respected and defended and that American lives be regarded as sacred?

It is obvious from his Cabinet appointments that as President, Kennedy will formulate his own policy and expect it to be carried forward. His models are more likely to be Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson than Franklin D. Roosevelt who moved us into an Alice-in-Wonderland confusion of world leadership or Harry Truman who was wholly dependent upon State Department experts who managed to lose China just as John Foster Dulles's error at Suez lost for us Africa.

Nearly all the mistakes that could be made have been made and it is about time for a program of constructive Americanism which in terms of the foreign policy must mean that every step taken must directly or indirectly benefit the United States and not such a nebulous concept as the Free World.

This we shall soon know because the Soviet is acting fast and is lighting fires in several places at once, assuming that the Eisenhower Administration cannot act between now and January 20 and that the Kennedy Administration will not be ready to act for some time after January 20.

My guess would be — and it is, of course, only a guess — that the basic decisions in foreign policy have been formulated in Kennedy's mind and are ready for implementation. My guess is that his inaugural address will contain several paragraphs as clearly and firmly stated as the Monroe Doctrine which was not a separate document or a treaty but President Monroe's message to Congress of 1823.

Such a declaration of principle would, of course, be personal but it could be made binding on the nations. It is also my guess that John Kennedy will write his own document, will circulate it among Dean Rusk, Adlai Stevenson and such others as it would be polite to consult and that he will speak as he chooses, asserting at the outset of his career that he has assumed the obligations and responsibility of conducting the foreign policy and will do so.

In foreign affairs, this will be an asset, for some will imagine, particularly the British who often mistake a correct pronunciation of English for intelligence, that Adlai Stevenson will be the smart boy in this Administration. They will soon discover why Kennedy passed Adlai Stevenson over for Dean Rusk whom he did not even know. He wanted no Seward in his Cabinet — that is, a Secretary of State who would look down his nose at the President as Seward did at Lincoln.

A nationalistic foreign policy could put new life and pride in our people. It would indeed be a new pioneer attitude. It would discourage the slouching, spineless professional elements, the sports clothes, Ivy League intellectuals who tell our sons and daughters that everything is right with Russia and Red China and even Cuba but that nothing is right in the United States. We are liable to carry our heads high again and fly the flag on the F.U. of July. It could be like that in a year or two rather than the deadly business of bowing to alien gods as we have done for so long.

Happy Convict Is 'Home' in Pen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Wendell Johnson is "home" for Christmas—and he'll be staying there for 1-15 years.

The Franklin, Ohio, man Thursday pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary, and requested a sentence in Ohio Penitentiary so he could have Christmas dinner with friends.

Johnson, 38, served time previously in the penitentiary and at Mansfield Reformatory. Accused of breaking a window in a Columbus jewelry store and stealing jewelry valued at $256, Johnson said he would enter a plea of guilty if he was indicted quickly and sentenced immediately.

Common Pleas Judge Henry L. Holden granted the request and sent Johnson to the penitentiary for Christmas and then some.

Dear Editor: It seems to me that many people of Circleville feel grateful for those who beautify our city but may be hesitant about expressing themselves.

"For that reason I wish to express our appreciation to those responsible for the beautiful Christmas lighting in the downtown area. The corner of Court and Main is especially well decorated this year. A big orchid to those who gave financially and those who did the installation.

Another orchid should go to the Gospel Center which made many an evening beautiful this summer with the sound of chimes ringing out over the area. The peaceful sounds of angelus bells playing hymns is a delight to many residents.

Such additions of beauty and peace to our lives ought to be recognized — a big hearty "thanks" for them!

Now we hope that on national holidays our streets may be as beautiful with the sight of American flags flying at every home and business place."

Girl's Idea Started Famed Yule Service

By MARK KNIGHT

"My! What a wonderful Christmas tree it would be!" exclaimed the little girl excitedly, looking up at the majestic General Grant sequoia tree towering 260 feet above her.

And then she slipped silently away into the shadows to catch up with her playmates, her words remembered only by the man who was standing nearby — the late Charles Lee.

After a bit of thought, Lee agreed it would make a fine Christmas tree, and the very next year he started the annual Christmas observance at the base of the 3,500-year-old tree in Kings Canyon National Park near Sanger, Calif. It has become known as the Nation's Christmas Tree.

Every year since, reverent thousands have stood at the base of the tree, often in several feet of snow, to hear the Christmas story retold.

"It is easy once you have attended a service there," says Methodist Bishop Berald H. Kennedy of Los Angeles, "to understand why so many who came to the first one 35 years ago return and bring friends."

"Here a Christmas service still too young to be called a tradition, seems destined to grow into a pilgrimage of beauty and significance."

The sequoia stands in a dense, majestic grove 6,500 feet up in the Sierra Nevada range, 55 miles east of Fresno. An act of Congress in 1955 designated the tree as a national shrine to American servicemen, living and dead.

To help stem the outflow of dollars, overseas PX's were ordered to stop buying a lot of foreign items. The GI's will just have to be satisfied with homemade luxuries.

The PX supplies of British sweaters won't stretch very far. Swiss watches have been stopped and they're strapped for Spanish leather goods.

We're using Scotland for a missile base, but we bar Scotch whiskey. Uncle Sam may be dear to us, but in Scotland he's no Teacher's pet.

The GI's don't mind anything but the ban on foreign booze. After you've traveled on your stomach, you need something to pick you up.

It's going to be a "Bye, America" program.

stration probably will revolve more around his shrewdness in handling Congress than on what he proposes to do about problems at home.

Overseas he'll have his hands full.

Judging from the starting program he intends to lay before Congress, where his Democrats far outnumber the Republicans, he will neither suggest nor try anything startling.

The proposals he talks about were all part of the campaign promises he made. They didn't get through Congress last year. For instance, medical care for the aged tied to Social Security. So he'll try again as he is pledged to.

If Southern Democrats and Republicans band together, they can mess him up. Some Republicans talk of such a coalition.

But it seems unlikely the Democratic-run House — there the Democrats outnumber the Republicans 260 to 177 — will start off trying to frustrate Kennedy. It would be a sorry reception for their party's new leader.

In the Senate where the Democrats are still in charge with a majority of 65 to 35 Republicans, Kennedy will have some real pros working as his chief lieutenants: Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana.

It is important to both Johnson and Mansfield, who succeeds him as Democratic leader, to see the Kennedy administration get off to a good start. A defeat for Kennedy would be a personal defeat for them.

But it's in the foreign field that Kennedy and his administrators and advisors probably will feel they're walking through a dark jungle.

Besides trying to deal with the Russians and Premier Khrushchev, Kennedy must find some way to keep the people of Southeast Asia and Latin America on the U.S. side.

In Africa, both the people and their new nations are literally just coming alive as an active force in a world where for centuries they were kept in second-class citizen status as colonials. That continent will be explosive for years.

The Kennedy administration somehow must find a way to convince the millions of Africans that their future will be better with the West.

Any critical showdown with the Soviet Union during Kennedy's administration may come first in Africa.

And even with American allies in Europe, Kennedy must keep the alliance not only alive but cooperative.

On top of all this, and yet critically related to it, Kennedy must subdue the flow of American gold overseas, keep trade healthy and at the same time build American defenses to a point discouraging Soviet ambitions.

Kennedy is a young man. What he faces is enough to make an old man of him.

'White House Christmases' Is Topic of DAR Program

"White House Christmases" was the program topic Mrs. Ben Nothstine presented Tuesday night at the Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, meeting.

The home of Mrs. Clara Belle Hughes, W. High St., was the scene for the December meeting.

The meeting opened in regular fashion by Miss Marie Hamilton, president in the absence of Regent, Mrs. Richard Hedges.

The message of the State Chaplain was read by Mrs. R. R. Bales; salute to the flag was led by Mrs. Ben Nothstine; and group singing of "Little Town of Bethlehem" was directed by Mrs. James Moffitt.

Miss Virginia Metter read The Christmas Story from the American Bible Society Record, and holiday greetings from the President-General and State Regent were read by Mrs. Forrest Brown and Miss Alice Ada May.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Donald Watt and approved by the members as corrected. Miss Alice Ada May spoke on material sent from National Defense headquarters, "Barbarians of Freedom."

Miss Hamilton introduced a new member, Mrs. Robert Pickens.

Two chairmen reported on the activities of their committees. Mrs. Watt told about the DAR scholarship to Bacone College in Oklahoma, an accredited Junior College with a current enrollment of 200 Indian students. It is hoped that this school will become a major center for the study of Indian art and culture. Mrs. Bales reported on the sale of articles at the Pumpkin Show booth and asked that clothing for the approved schools be brought either to her home or to the January meeting.

Announcement was made of State Conference at Toledo in March. Mr. John Getz, president of Bacone, is scheduled to address

Mrs. Ben Nothstine read a paper entitled "White House Christmases" furnished by the Program Committee of the DAR Society. The manner of celebrating the festive season at the Mansion on Pennsylvania Avenue makes an interesting portrait of the famous families who lived there.

Christmas Eve, 1929, fire was discovered in the West wing which sent President Hoover and his secretaries scurrying to save valuable papers in the President's desk. It was the worst fire since 1814.

In 1923 Mrs. Calvin Coolidge thrilled the women clerks in the shop where she bought most of her clothes by sending them roses from the White House Conservatory.

President Taft went Christmas shopping along Pennsylvania Ave. and F. St., December 24, 1909, marking the first such excursion a President had made in many years.

Christmas dinner was held in the newly finished State Dining Room in 1902. President Theodore Roosevelt had had the White House completely renovated and remodeled, removing the oriental ceiling.

Arthur had put over the colonial style in the East Room and returning it as much as possible to the original.

In 1885 the White House was draped in mourning for the death of Vice President Hendricks, and President Cleveland chose to dine at the home of his Secretary of Treasury.

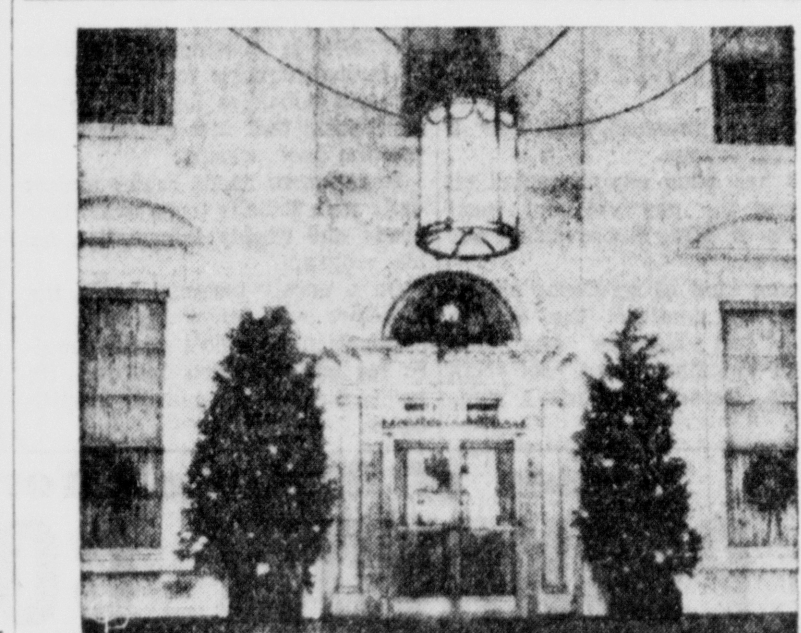

December 23, 1874, President and Mrs. Grant entertained at a gala party for the King of Hawaii and 27 guests.

The afternoon of Christmas Day, 1862, President and Mrs. Lincoln visited the hospital on Judiciary Square which was filled with wounded soldiers of the Civil War.

Information about Christmas celebrations becomes very scarce at this time, the nation's first families, perhaps, preferring small, private observances. In 1790 President Washington held a brilliant "levee" at his residence in Philadelphia described by the newspaper of the time as "the most delightful occasion of its kind ever known in this country."

The meeting adjourned with everyone singing "Silent Night". Assisting hostesses were Miss Virginia Metter, Mrs. Forrest Brown, Mrs. Dhel Renick, Mrs. McClure Hughes, Miss Benadine Yates, Mrs. Bryce Briggs, Mrs. Clarence Hoyt, Mrs. Dorothy Gerhardt, Miss Ruth Montelius, Mrs. Raymond Goetting.

The January meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Jasper Hedges.

Fashion Hats For Purl Girls

When you wore them as a youngster they were called stocking caps. Now as Paris-inspired knit hats they're a couture rage.

The knit- and purl enthusiast will have fun making a collection of caps, hats and diceys for herself or for Christmas gifts.

A hair-covering cloche is knit deep enough to permit a turnback for a wide face-framing cuff.

Worked in cable stripes, in simple ribbed motifs or in novelty block patterns, the caps are designed to keep your ears warm and your coiffure unruffled whether skiing, skating, or marketing.

Knitters can fill in the wide-way necklines of their winter suits with warm diceys that repeat the motif of their knitted caps. Deeply cuffed, the diceys have open turtle necklines to wear inside or outside a coat.

JEWELERS

Dear Abby... By Abigail VanBuren

For the Birds

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I own a four-family flat. We live in one and rent out the other three. I showed a vacant apartment to a lady who said there were only two adults in her family—her husband and herself. I told her we didn't allow dogs, cats or children under twelve.

She liked the apartment and signed a two-year lease. After they moved in, we found out they had twelve parakeets and one parrot. There is squawking and talking from that apartment all day long. Everybody is complaining. Can we do anything about this now?

HOOKED

DEAR HOOKED: If your lease had a loophole big enough for thirteen birds to fly through, you need a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old boy writing to you about my mother. I am the "man of the house" because my father died when I was five. I have two younger sisters. My mother is a wonderful woman. She is very pretty, too. She's worked hard to keep our family together.

She has been going with a man for four years. He gets her hopes up about marrying her, sets the date and tells her to make the plans, and then he postpones the wedding. This upsets my mother and she gets discouraged and cries a lot. Last week he did this for the fifth time. My mother is so broken up she hasn't been able to go back to work yet.

Do you think it is my place to talk to this man and find out what his intentions are? Mother has no one else to protect her.

"MAN OF THE HOUSE"

DEAR MAN: I'm afraid you'd be wasting your time. When a man postpones a wedding five times, it is fairly obvious that he doesn't want to get married. Talk to your mother and encourage presented to the children.

U.S. Taxmen, Florida Fuss Over Betting

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Florida is at legal odds again with federal authorities over daily double pay-offs.

This dispute cropped up at Tropical Park Race Track Thursday when buyers of 21 $2 daily double tickets hit for $2,347.20 on each.

The Internal Revenue Service requires $2 ticket holders to identify themselves in order to be paid off on tickets worth $600 or more, but added that Florida's attorney general had ruled the track has to pay whether or not the ticket-holder identifies himself.

Two winners agreed to give their names. Seventeen declined and got paid anyway. The others did not cash their tickets at once.

The IRS said in Washington that Florida Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin had withdrawn his ruling and conceded the federal government has prior right to require identification at the payoff window.

Ervin said his opinion still stands that Florida law obligates the track to pay with or without identification, but that the opinion did not go into the question of federal or state precedence.

The bumper daily double resulted from the first-race victory by Patricia's Shoe—$181.90 — and second race win by Regal Rhythm—$20.90.

6 Ohio Cities Face Loss of Air Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—The mayors of six Ohio cities have been warned by the Civil Aeronautics Board that if use of their local service airline, Lake Central, does not increase, they may face discontinuation of the service.

The notice was given to the mayors of Dover-New Philadelphia, Marion, Portsmouth, Toledo and Zanesville in a letter from CAB Chairman Whitney Gilliland.

The five airports involved are among 29 served by Lake Central, which has headquarters in Indianapolis.

Gilliland said the five airports have not been originating an average of at least five passengers daily. That is the minimum set by the CAB for the 12 months following the initial six months of service, Gilliland wrote, to preclude the board from "in the absence of unusual or compelling circumstances, (instituting) a proceeding to determine whether service to the cities should be discontinued for lack of use."

Gilliland pointed out that the board has substantially expanded local air service, often at considerable expense to the airlines, and to the government in payment of subsidy.

"Unless adequate use is made of the air service, its cost to the government is not warranted, and continuation of service would not be in the best interest of the public," Gilliland said.

"If a city fails to make adequate use of its subsidized service, the airline is free, and is encouraged, to ask for a suspension of service even in advance of a board proceeding to terminate the certification."

West Virginia River Bridge Eyed by Ohio

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Ohio highway officials are reported seeking an early meeting with their West Virginia counterparts to select the site for a proposed bridge over the Ohio River here.

Ohio officials would like to have the new bridge location selected before the Ohio legislature convenes Jan. 2, according to the Huntington Advertiser.

Everett S. Preston, Ohio Department of Highways director, wrote West Virginia State Road Commissioner Patrick C. Graney Nov. 22 suggesting a meeting. A Road Commission spokesman said the letter has not been answered, but said West Virginia authorities will set up a meeting as soon as "engineering details" are worked out.

The sites being considered are all in the Huntington area.

DiSalle To Again Seek OK From Legislature on Bills

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Administration proposals being drafted for the 1961 legislature will omit tax increases but will include several measures that failed in the last session.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says his program will contain about 200 bills in contrast to some 350 offered the 1959 legislature, which his party dominated.

Some members of the 104th General Assembly, that convenes Jan. 2 under Republican control, hint broadly that a number of administration bills will encounter tough sledding.

They add that attacks also are likely on some enactments of the last session, such as the new state departments of personnel and of industrial and economic development.

DiSalle plans to meet next Thursday with new Senate and House leaders of both parties to determine ground rules for consideration of his proposals. He hopes for agreement that none of his measures will be buried in committees without study by the law-makers.

The last legislature boosted taxes nearly a third of a billion dollars to raise salaries and to expand state services and subsidies at DiSalle's behest but he says no increases will be sought this time.

He also has promised not to veto any tax cuts. But he couples that pledge with a threat to restrict services in line with loss of revenue to avoid deficit financing.

That stand poses a problem for Republicans who used the high tax campaign effectively in the last campaign and hope to fashion several planks in the coming session for their platform two years hence.

Complaints that more taxes were enacted than actually needed could backfire if DiSalle is to reduce services. He could blame Republicans when the inevitable protests came from those affected.

The governor plans to submit two operating budgets about Feb. 1, far earlier than they usually reach the legislature. He says one will be tailored to fit anticipated revenues. The other will be based on what he considers needs of the state, apparently leaving it up to Republicans to figure out how to finance any increases necessary for more services.

High on DiSalle's list is an extension of unemployment benefit payments during recession periods—a proposal defeated by a recent special session of the legislature.

New administration proposals will seek congressional re-districting, greater freedom of information about state activities, bill-board law changes to qualify for federal funds, revisions to conform Ohio law to the federal medicare program, requirements for an observation period before admitting patients to mental hospitals, changes in statutes governing care of the mentally retarded and provision for an automatic recount of election returns if opponents are only one per cent apart.

The governor also wants to eliminate a section of Ohio law that makes a "contributing" member of the National Guard exempt from jury duty. "We have enough difficulty now in getting jurors to serve, he observes.

Retread proposals, that failed two years ago, include elimination of sales tax and revenue stamps, revision of state utility rate-making laws, a ceiling on election campaign spending and a tough criminal conspiracy law.

DiSalle is considering whether to renew requests for elimination of state subsidies for poor relief, a proposal that met concerted opposition last session.

Department heads confer almost daily with DiSalle to go over their needs and supply information for his program.

On a purely personal basis, the governor will renew his plea for elimination of Ohio's death penalty for premeditated murder. He terms the penalty morally unjustifiable.

Greer Garson Says One Life Just Isn't Enough for Her

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I became an actress because living one life wasn't enough for me. Now I'm living more than one life, and acting is only one of them."

This was how Greer Garson described the current state of her career. It is a career that has been marked by brilliance, but the movie portion of it has been temporarily inactive until this year.

She broke a five-year absence from the screen to portray Eleanor Roosevelt in "Sunrise at Campobello," a role that may well win her a nomination for her second Academy award. Her first: "Mrs. Miniver," in 1942.

She explained her absence: "When I was at MGM, it was like home to me. I had only my mother then, and the people at the studio were family."

Greer grew unhappy with the quality of films she was given and left the family homestead. She had married Texan Buddy Fogelson, and there were new interests in her busy life. They lived much of the summer on their New Mexico ranch along the Santa Fe trail, spent part of the time in Dallas, where he oversees his business holdings.

The actress admitted that she also faced a problem in her desire to "get out of ermines and bustles," in which MGM had catalogued her. She had fallen into it by accident.

"When Mr. (Louis B.) Mayer saw me on the stage in London, I was playing the last of a series of rather dashing females," she said. "But the first role they gave me was as dear Mrs. Chips, and from then on I was stuck."

Somehow I can't picture Mrs. Miniver playing a Tennessee Williams harridan. But it is nice to know that Miss Garson intends to devote more time to her film career, which has had a new spurt of offers from studios since "Campobello."

It's nice not only because she's one of the medium's accomplished performers. She also adds color to a Hollywood that is becoming too charcoal gray. She lives in the grand tradition, sharing with her husband the tastefully lavish stone canyon home she has maintained for years. She sweeps in with a cloud of perfume, always beautifully groomed, her hair a dazzling orange.

She has been complimented on catching the physical and vocal aspects of Mrs. Roosevelt in her portrayal.

"Some kind of an Oscar should go to my dentist," the actress said. "And Warners was kind enough to gather news reel shots of Mrs. Roosevelt which I studied."

MacArthur Denies Truman Story on Use of A-Bombs

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman says that Gen. Douglas MacArthur wanted to A-bomb China and eastern Siberia during the Korean conflict. MacArthur terms Truman's assertion "completely false." Both men are in New York. MacArthur resides here and Truman arrived Wednesday to spend the holidays with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Daniel.

"I expressed an opinion," he said, "which is not in my memoirs. I've had my say and the general had his. You can believe anyone you want to."

Truman said "history will take care of itself" and that he would have no further comment on the controversy.

The controversy was touched off by Truman during a television interview last Saturday night in Chicago. The transcript of the interview became available Thursday.

Irv Kupcinet, a Sun-Times reporter, moderator of the program, had asked Truman if, when he was president, he had been under pressure to unleash the atomic bomb during the Korean War.

He said Truman replied: "Yes, MacArthur wanted to do just that. He wanted to bomb China and eastern Russia and everything else."

MacArthur issued a statement Thursday night denying this.

"Any statement such as that attributed to Mr. Truman that I advocated the use of atomic bombs in the Korean War is completely false," MacArthur said.

"The records are available and will show that atom bombing in the Korean War was never discussed either by my headquarters or in any communication to or from Washington."

"The allegation that I contemplated or even considered action against Siberia or areas not directly within the field of operations is equally fantastic."

"We did not need the atom bomb there any more than we did in the war against Japan," added the former supreme commander of Allied forces in the South Pacific.

Truman told newsmen during his stroll that "the use of the atomic bomb in Japan ended the war. Any man can win a football game on Monday morning."

Truman relieved MacArthur of his Far East post in 1951.

Truman told Kupcinet: "I recalled him (MacArthur) for disobedience of orders. He was in private contact with the Republican minority leader in the House of Representatives, Joe Martin (of Massachusetts) and had been warned that the commander in chief was still the commander in chief."

"MacArthur was just another general as far as I was concerned,"

Commented MacArthur: "It is equally untrue to say I disobeyed any orders. The members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, my superiors in the conduct of the Korean War, testified under oath at the congressional hearings that there was no insubordination or disobedience of orders on my part."

MacArthur continued: "Our failure to win the Korean War was a major disaster for the free world."

"It is with deep reluctance I continue this controversial dispute of the last past when the world is now desperately beset with momentous troubles, and I do so only to prevent a complete perversion of history destined to cover up Mr. Truman's past failures."

In the television interview, Kupcinet asked Truman if he meant MacArthur wanted "to use the atomic bomb."

Truman: "Why, of course, that's the only weapon we had they would understand."

Kupcinet: "This was one of the main reasons you recalled him?"

Truman: "I recalled him for disobedience of orders."

Bradley Roms In Victory Over Bearcats

After 4 Years, Braves Find Range against Cincinnati Combine

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — At long last, Bradley, the country's No. 2 team, appears ready to shed its role as runner-up in the Missouri Valley Conference and take over championship matters.

For the last four seasons the Braves have finished second in the MVC—three times behind Cincinnati's Braves led by Oscar Robertson who has advanced to the pro league.

The Braves kayced Cincinnati 72-53 Friday night in their conference opener and ran their string to 14 victories—eight of which have come this season. It was also Bradley's 42nd straight home triumph dating back to Jan. 20, 1958, when Portland came through with an upset.

Boostered by such veterans as Odet Walker, Al Saunders, Ed Wodka, Lee Edwards and Mack Herndon, Bradley also has been graced by such sophomore standouts as Tim Robinson and Walt Gerard.

The loss was the second straight in the MVC for Cincinnati, which lost to strong St. Louis 57-40 in its conference opener. The St. Louis Billikens, who won the Kentucky Invitation Tournament this week by whipping both California and Kentucky in overtime, have a 7-1 overall record, and their loss with Bradley's should decide the MVC championship.

Bradley also is shooting for an NCAA championship berth and a possible national title should come of the top-ranking teams — Ohio State for instance — falter.

Bradley last season won the National Invitational Tournament. It was the Braves' second NIT title in four years.

Some profile scoring by DePaul's 5-foot-9 Howie Carl and Southern California's Jo'n Rudometkin featured the other major games on the slim Friday college program.

Carl scored 43 points, 23 on free throws, as unbeaten DePaul battled to its fifth straight, 81-78 in overtime over tough Marquette.

Rudometkin set a Trojan single game record of 40 points in Southern Cal's 91-69 rout of Hawaii. Neal Edwards added 25 points as the Trojans won their sixth against one loss.

Xavier of Ohio, with Frank Pinchback scoring 24 points, handed touring Gonzaga its fifth straight loss, 87-82 despite a 36 point show by Gonzaga's Frank Burgess, the country's leading major scorer with a 32.5 average.

Three long shots in overtime by 5-foot-9 Bob O'Billovic led Montana State U. to a 63-53 victory over Idaho State.

Clever Thief Gets New Pair of Shoes

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A sandy haired, freckle faced youth went into a shoe store at the North Plaza Shopping Center and tried on one shoe of a pair of $17 cordovans.

Saying he wanted to show it to his mother, in a car outside, he left the store and did not return.

Later he turned up at the same company's downtown store and pulled the same trick to get a mate.

The missing shoes are the same size, but slightly different in width.

Friday the shoe company is offering a bargain rate on a 9-C left shoe and a 9-B right shoe.

2 Persons, Race Horses Die in Fire

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Two persons were killed, along with more than a dozen pacers and trotters, when fire swept through horse barns at the Trumbull County Fairgrounds early today.

Names of the victims were not immediately learned. They were identified as an elderly Negro man, who was crippled, and a Negro woman, about 35.

There was no estimate of the damage. It was felt some of the racehorses may have been valuable. At least 13 died and some officials said the toll of horses could rise to 20. They were owned by Robert Forne of New Castle, Pa., and Bill Montgomery of Brookfield, O., firemen said.

Assistant Fire Chief Ray Niemi said the blaze may have started from faulty electrical wiring. About 20 firemen battled the flames in near zero temperatures.

Athletic colors of the University of Mississippi are cardinal red and navy blue.

Tigers Suffer 56-49 Loss To Miami Trace Panthers

A fired-up Miami Trace team handed visiting Circleville basketball team a 56-49 defeat last night at Bloomingburg.

The Tigers dropped behind in the third quarter and were never able to catch up with the fast running Panthers. The contest remained in doubt until about half way through the final period when the hosts opened a 56-43 bulge. The locals then stormed for six straight points, but the effort was nipped by the clock.

The Panthers led throughout the game, although the score was knotted several times in the first and second quarters. The test started slow with Miami Trace taking a 9-8 edge at the end of the first period and a 24-21 advantage at halftime.

By the end of the third frame the Panthers had widened the gap to 48-37. The hosts used some good team speed and deadly accuracy from the field to chalk their first SCO win against three losses.

THE brightest spot in the Circleville effort was a top performance by Sam Weller who raked the nets for 24 points to take scoring laurels for the evening.

Weller, battling to keep the Tigers in the test, hit 10 of his team's 16 points in the third quarter. However, Miami Trace stayed ahead with a 22-point binge in the same period.

Most of Weller's tallies came from underneath and on a deadly jump shot from around the key. He also connected on eight of nine foul tosses.

Sophomore Clesson Thomas came through with 11 points, with several of his buckets coming from down under on rebounds.

Richard Ayers was the top gunner for Miami Trace with 19 tallies. His push shot from the side and a round the foul circle was a damaging blow to the Tigers. Weaver followed with 19 for the Panthers.

Miami Trace rocked the Tigers with a 47.7 shooting percentage from the field, connecting on 21 of 44 attempts. Circleville finished with 39.1 per cent, making good on 18 of 46 shots.

THE loss dropped Circleville's record to 1-5. The lone win was a verdict over Washington C. H., a team which downed Miami Trace earlier in the season.

Circleville's reserve squad wrapped up its fourth victory in six starts by handing the young Panthers a 42-39 defeat.

The Kittens fell behind in the early stages, but soon came on with a rush for a lead which stood the remainder of the way.

Freddie Moore, sophomore guard, continued his scoring punch with 16 points. Dave Hanahs came through with eight and Bob Waple six.

Moore utilized his jump shot in the key area and also drove for several layups.

McKee with 13 and Redd 11 showed the way for the Miami Trace reservists.

The Tigers now are scheduled to take time out for the Christmas Holidays. Their next test comes January 6 when Hillsboro comes here. The following night they entertain Paint Valley.

Action the first night has Centralia vs Clarksburg at 7 p. m. and Union vs Kingston at 8:30. Thursday night the losers meet at 7 and the winners at 8:30.

The fourth tourney will be hosted by Sheridan in Perry County. One of the favorites will be Amanda - Clearcreek. The two other teams participating will be Lancaster St. Mary's and Berne Union.

Butts Quits As Coach At Georgia

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Wallace Butts has stepped out of the football coaching ranks after 33 years, the last 23 at the University of Georgia.

Dr. O. C. Aderhold, university president, announced Butts' resignation Friday as head football coach, a position the Georgia native, now 55, held for 22 years after serving one season as an assistant coach. Butts will continue as director of athletics.

Aderhold, who will name Butts' successor, declined to say who it would be or when he will make the decision. A source close to the school said it would be a Georgia alumnus.

Speculation immediately centered on Charley Trippi, a backfield aide to Butts who was All-America at Georgia in 1946; Gene Ellenson, center on Georgia's 1943 Rose Bowl team; and Oliver Hunsicker, former Georgia halfback and coach at a Lagrange, Ga. high school, as leading contenders for the job. Also mentioned were John Griffith, current freshman coach at Georgia, and John Rauch, a star quarterback under Butts in 1946-48.

"I figure I've been under pressure long enough," Butts explained. "I think it would affect my health if I continue."

Butts, whose pass patterns were the envy of the coaching profession, was dean of Southeastern Conference football coaches. He succeeded Joel Hunt as head coach at Georgia in 1939, and his teams won 140 games, lost 86 and

Scioto Downs Eyes 84-Day Sulky Meet

COLUMBUS — Scioto Downs will open the 1961 night harness racing season in central Ohio on Friday, June 2, and run through July 22, according to the tentative dates awarded by the Ohio State Racing Commission at its recent meeting here. In similar action, the commission granted the Mid-America Racing Association tentative dates of July 24 through Sept. 7, to race at Scioto Downs.

Thus if action by the commission receives final approval, there will be 84 straight nights of racing at Scioto Downs.

Charles d. Hill, president of Scioto Downs stated, "The track has complied with all the rules, regulations and provisions of the State Racing Commission, and therefore we are confident our request for dates will be finalized".

The summer-long night harness race meeting at Scioto Downs has received unanimous approval by horsemen and public alike.

Robert S. Steele, Scioto Downs business manager, stated, "the horsemen approve of the straight racing dates, because it reduces the cost of shipping horses considerable". Steele added that "the concentration of the better racing stables in central Ohio will immeasurably help the county fairs in the area."

Highlighting the Scioto Downs 44-night meeting will be the 13-event stake program, headlined by the rich HTA pacing classic, sponsored by the Harness Tracks of America.

Huskie Fullback To Miss Bowl Tilt

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Washington's Huskies have suffered the first serious casualty in training for the Jan. 2 Rose Bowl football game.

Joe Jones, the No. 2 fullback on offense and No. 1 cornerback on defense, underwent surgery Friday for appendicitis and will have to watch the game with Minnesota from the sidelines.

Hard Scrimmage Revives Gophers

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A rocking scrimmage revived a drooping Minnesota football team and swept the Gophers into the Christmas break today in soaring spirits.

The scrimmage wasn't scheduled. Coach Murray Warmath planned to ease the team into rough work. But after a dispirited morning practice, the worst in Minnesota's Rose Bowl preparations for Washington, the Gopher commander took off the gloves.

"They were getting disinterested and they needed to go after somebody," Warmath said. "I think they liked it."
